

Angry feminist? Damn right I'm angry

Feminist e-Knowledges Programme ^[1]

Source: Mail & Guardian (1 April 2016)

By Helen Moffett

Earlier this month, on a Nigerian feminist's Twitter feed, I spotted men earnestly arguing the case for child brides. In 2016. On International Women's Day. And once again, a question that's been haunting me for decades started running like ticker tape across my mind: Why do men hate women so much?

It's a question I've been wrestling with for many years. This time, I thought I might shake some new answers loose by investigating social media and the way it's become a hall of mirrors that, while often distorting, nevertheless reflects the pervasiveness of global misogyny. READ MORE^[2]

- AGI on Twitter
- AGI on YouTube
- AGI on Facebook
- Search
- Contact
- Login

The African Gender Institute is a research grouping within the Faculty of Humanities at the University of Cape Town University of Cape Town
Except where otherwise noted, content on this site is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 2.5 License

Source URL: <http://agi.ac.za/news/angry-feminist-damn-right-im-angry>

Links:

[1] <http://agi.ac.za/feminist-e-knowledges>

[2] <http://mg.co.za/article/2016-03-31-angry-feminist-damn-right-im-angry>